Effect of layer-skipping connections on network performance and small-world metrics